LAW IN ACTION

Crime and Punishment

For an offense to become a crime in California, lawmakers must clearly define it in our written laws, and attach a punishment to it. Our constitution forbids "cruel and unusual punishment" like torture or lingering death.

As punishment the law may keep a person from enjoying any office of honor; it may oust him from office; it may fine or imprison him. And the law may punish by death such "capital" crimes as first-degree murder, treason, lying to a court when the lie brings about an innocent person's execution, wrecking a train, deadly assault with malice aforethought by a prisoner under life sentence, and for kidnapping where the victim receives harm.

In man's long history of violence and crime, he has used many theories of punishment.

Today, California's Adult Authority sets the prison terms of many who commit felonies, but even at this date, we still dispute the grounds for punishment: Shall we retaliate and get even for the offense against society? An eye for an eye. Shall we mete out equal punishment for those who commit the same crimes? The same for the first offender? For the young offender? For the habitual criminal?

Shall we punish to scare others away from crime? Shall we punish to restore the criminal to useful life? Does punishment in fact deter and restore? Are there crimes—like treason in the midst of war—so heinous that we punish the crime? Or do we punish the criminal with some view of his nature? What are the purposes of punishment anyhow, and which purposes are valid?

These are big questions which go beyond the law and invade questions of social policy. If we have not yet settled some of them, it may help to know that these questions have recurred in Western thought for thousands of years.

Plans for the forthcoming state Moose convention in Santa Monica will be discussed at next Monday's meeting of the Torrance Moose, Dan Desmond, lodge governor, revealed this week.

A full slate of delegates will be named during the meeting next week, according to Desmond, and a schedule of the state convention will be announced.

SENSATION OF THE CENTURY

-at an easy-to-take price

It's Bonanza Time at Buick Dealers!

FIRST TIME you take the measure of a '56 Buick CENTURY, you'll know what the sports-car folks mean when they say the CENTURY is a great performer.

The getaway is right away—the road feel superb—the handling a joy. For this is Buick's most spirited and spectacular car.

It has the highest power-per-pound ratio in all Buick history. It rides on a chassis compact to the last ounce and inch.

It takes to movement like a prima ballerina—nimble to the nth degree.

And when you press the pedal you get the response of Buick's mightiest V8 engine and the silk-smooth wizardry of an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that lets you switch the pitch for emergency acceleration that's the most satisfying safety measure in the land today.

As we said, the name is CENTURY. And, as you'll discover, the price is a cinch. For the CENTURY is just a cut above Buick's lowest-price SPECIAL Series—and that's just a cut above the well-known smaller cars.

So you really ought to try a '56 CENTURY...

Especially now, while your present car is at its peak worth...

Especially now, at today's Buick prices (who knows when they'll ever be as low again!)

And especially now, with Buick so solidly in the Top 3 of America's best sellers—and that kind of sales volume permitting us to make you an even finer trade-in allowance.

Drop in on us this week—today would be even better!—and see what a buy you can make right now on the best Buick yet.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
